Admission rules and dress code of the Primus Line

In the interest of a pleasant visit, where all guests feel comfortable and can spend a nice evening together, we ask you to observe the following rules:

As a general rule, admission is only possible from the age of 18 and under reservation. Under reservation means that we can refuse entry without ID.

The shipping company reserves the right to refuse entry to guests who are heavily intoxicated or in the case of inappropriate outfits or behaviour. A refund of the ticket price is excluded in these cases.

Furthermore, our admission staff reserves the right to grant admission to the guest according to experience and feeling.

The shipping company reserves the right to randomly check bags. Please comply with the staff's request.

Food and drinks brought in are not permitted.

Please no exaggerated party accessories or costumes. Exceptions will only be made for special events (e.g. children's carnival, Bavarian Gaudi, etc.).

Belly trays or similar items must be handed in to the ship's staff when boarding and will be returned to you when disembarking. Any sale is not permitted.

Anyone who wilfully destroys furnishings and decorations will be banned from the premises immediately and will be held liable for the damage caused.

Guests who cause trouble or fights will be banned from the premises immediately.
